Thanks to the decoration committee, consisting of George Al-bright, Bill Brogan, Willard Strickler and Dave Lane, the spacious apart-ments were festooned with a bewild-ering array of artistically draped assessment cinches, framing most effec-tively handsome portraits of Dr. Bul-gin, Eugene V. An orchestra cleverly hidden in the vacant room formerly occupied by the circulation department, and com-posed of hammer, anvil tom-tom and bazoo artists dispensed a pleasing melody. Elfego Baca presided at the punch bowl and sliced the lemons.

Uncle Joe Saint introduced a number of new corporation gentlemen to whose open handed generosity the at success of the function was largely due. Judge Mann and Nestor Montoya performed a skillful duet for the occasion on the pantagraph, sitting on valuable school desks furnished by Perfessor Stroup who was one of the honored guests. M. E.
